SPECIAL TALK by Prof. Solomon Darwin, University of California, Berkeley

In order to facilitate a healthy academic environment, Synod College in collaboration with P.A. Sangma Foundation organised a special talk entitled "Special Talk on Smart Villages" by Prof. Solomon Darwin, Executive Director, Garwood Center for Corporate Innovation, Haas School of Business, University of California, Berkeley.

The talk started at 6:00 pm in the Auditorium of the College on February 11th, 2020. The function was chaired by Dr. R.M. Lyngdoh, Principal of Synod College, while Shri Conrad K. Sangma, Hon'ble Chief Minister, Govt. Of Meghalaya graced the occasion as Chief Guest in the presence of Shri Thomas A. Sangma, MLA and Advisor to the Chief Minister along with Rev. S. S. Majaw, President of the Governing Body, Synod College and other dignitaries, entrepreneurs and special invitees from various Christian denominations in Shillong.

Prof. Darwin commenced the talk with the first words and the last words from the book of Genesis in the Bible: "In the beginning, God" and "A coffin in Egypt". The United States of America, in his words, had always had a Christian presence but it was the "coffin" that held more significance. A coffin symbolises death but Joseph's death was a symbol of hope. Prof. Darwin elaborated on the atrocious caste system that permeated Indian society and how his grandmother, Nalli Subamma, had faced many tribulations and trials in her life before becoming a Christian. A Christian missionary saved her from drowning in the river Godavari and taught her how to read and write and thus, started a new chapter in Nalli Subamma's life. She prospered where there was no FedEx, Google or Amazon and started a wide range of businesses and projects like schools and hospitals that not only benefitted her and her family but the entire village of Mori (a village in Andhra Pradesh) itself. Her death brought the entire village to mourn for her but her coffin, much like that of Joseph's, still carried hope for the untouchables and downtrodden. The good work of Nalli Subbama was and is still being carried on by her grandson, Prof. Solomon Darwin.

University of California, Berkeley, says Prof. Darwin is concerned with a wide range of problems and issues like poverty, inequality, urbanisation and rural communities. Adaptability to change, innovation, vision and leadership are important qualities to solve these pertinent questions in the world. Prof. Darwin explained at length various models and frameworks to build and develop Smart Villages whereby people with dynamic capabilities are people who sense, see and seize opportunities and transform the world around them. The Triple Helix Framework is designed for collaboration and collusion between government, research facilities and start-up companies. An Open Innovation System is concerned with creating and spreading knowledge and that by introducing it to villages, everybody learns and grows. The system thrives on expanding and including everyone in the process thereby ensuring that knowledge and ideas are not held in captivity by selfishness but spreads out to others who can gain from it. Prof. Darwin also talked about creating viable Business Models for Sustainable Villages and that such models should both create and capture value. In conclusion, a Smart Village consists of a community of people who coexist, having purpose and meaning, an Ecosystem of relationships that meet each other's needs, a Brand of Identity, Legacy, Lineage, Ancestral Pride and Inheritance, a Business Model that creates and captures Value as well as a Platform for Access to global markets to trade without barriers.

In his remarks, Chief Minister, Conrad K. Sangma said that urbanization is taking place and the concept of Smart Village is not to stop urbanization but to give an opportunity to people who want to stay in villages. Lack of infrastructure and opportunities force people to migrate to urban areas. However, the government now is trying to deliver basic services like Health, Education and Livelihood to people in the rural areas with the help of technology. The Chief Minister also said that the fear of dilution should not be a reason to deprive people of technology and development even at the grassroot level but rather that we should try to take stock of the resources we have and expand them for the welfare of all.

The vote of thanks was delivered by Dr. C.R. Lyngdoh, HOD, Department of Political Science (P.G. Section), Synod College and Joint Secretary, P.A. Sangma Foundation while Rev S. S. Majaw ended the function with a prayer and benediction.
